70CL | 50%

COLUMN STILL SINGLE FARM ORIGIN

Renegade Dunfermline Pre-Cask is one of the first terroir-driven releases from the Renegade Rum Distillery. It's an unaged, single farm origin traditional pot still rum produced from fresh sugarcane juice. The cane is harvested from Dunfermline farm on the coast of Grenada and is distilled using a column still to give a smooth rum with tropical, orange and vanilla notes.

NOTES OF BANANA AND EUCALYPTUS

Light aromas, tropical tones of banana and pineapple, aloe and freshly cut cane. A velvety texture coats the palate, with gentle hints of orange and soft marmalade.

BEST ENJOYED NEAT

Designed for comparing and contrasting, sip this rum alongside one of its siblings and use it to understand where each of the main flavours and textures come from.

TERROIR-DRIVEN APPROACH

An industry-changing project from the man behind Ireland's groundbreaking, terroir-driven Waterford Distillery. By re-establishing Grenada's cane industry and working with farms all over the island, Renegade have been able to explore the effect that terroir, cane variety and distillation-style has on the flavour of rum.

GRENADA, THE PERFECT HOME

Situated in volcanic Grenada, the Renegade distillery has access to a wide range of altitudes and soils which are ideal for growing top quality cane. Dunfermline farm is surrounded by rainforest, and water runs down from the nearby hills into the moisture-retentive soil.
